Building Inspector Named

William Meins of Beverly, an engineer and native of England, has been named Andover's new building inspector, effective "on or about" Aug. 7.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said Meins was selected from a field of 60 applicants, and has the "significant" construction and "like" experience he was looking for in the man who will be responsible for issuing permits and enforcing building codes here.

Sam DeSalvo, who has been acting building inspector since Arthur Peatman retired in the spring, and who was a "preferred" applicant himself, will return to his former duties as assistant building inspector.

Meins, who holds a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Gateshead Tech University in Durham, England, has been field engineer and construction coordinator for Steelcon Division of Airtex Corp., which involves pollution control facilities, for the past 10 years. He came to the U.S. in 1967.

Meins was introduced to the selectmen Monday night, along with his wife Sheila, and youngsters Kevin, 14, and Sharon, 12.

He said he hopefully looked forward to moving to this area, though he said he wouldn't "say when."

Clark noted that while law does not re-

Lowell Firm To Design School Renovations

Heads Up,
No. 55

Number 55 is distracted by some activity or other during last Thursday's swing band concert in Central Park, while an unidentified friend — or foe — zeroes in on something else. The outcome was not available a press time.

Perley F. Gilbert Associates, the old Lowell architectural firm that designed East Jr. High School some 60 years ago, has been selected to plan the massive renovations of that school.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark this week chose the firm to design a proposed $10 million school package that also includes an addition and interior alterations at Andover High and renovations at West Jr. High.

Clark said the newly formed School Building committee narrowed the field of interested firms from more than 60 to eight, then recommended Gilbert Associates by a 9-0 vote because the firm has had extensive school building experience in Massachusetts, and has had experience within the past two years. They have a good working knowledge of current regulations and know how to work with the School Building Assistance Bureau, Clark said.

He added that Gilbert Associates also has prior experience in renovations and work similar to the Andover project, including "an auditorium of significant size." A 1600-seat auditorium has been included in specifications approved by the school committee and now in the hands of the Building Committee.

Gilbert Associates is now working on a renovation-addition project at Lowell High School, and has done a total of 78 new school and school renovation jobs.

Previous work in Andover includes Punchard Jr. High (the most recent, East wing of the present East Jr. High, Shawsheen School and West Elementary.

Furthermore, Clark said, the Building Committee had a positive reaction to the firm's size (it has six architects and a total staff of 17) and its "availability" to complete the design in time for a price tag to be attached and a bond issue prepared for spring town meeting.

Time is particularly of the essence, Clark said Tuesday, in order to avoid junior high students going on split sessions for more than a year.

Plans now are to vacate East Jr. High for a year of construction, and have all junior high students on split sessions at the West Jr. High.

Clark said he is hoping for a Town Meeting at the beginning of April, so the project could be funded and presented to the State School Building Assistance Bureau at its meeting the third Tuesday in April. If the Bureau gave its approval at that time, he said, a contractor could be on site before school is out in June of 1969, providing almost two full construction seasons with only one year of disruption to the students.

Clark notified the firm of its acceptance Tuesday, and said he hoped to sign a contract with them within the next two weeks. Town Meeting in April voted a total of $900,000 in planning and design funds for the project.

Clark said he would be calling a formal meeting to acquaint the school committee and the firm and Stanley J. Shilensky, who will be overseeing the work here.

Clark said he still feels $10 million is a "good ballpark guess" as total cost of the project, and said that both he and the school committee are committed to coming in close to or below that figure.

Emergency Water Sold To Neighbor

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark informed the selectmen Monday night that Andover opened up its water line connection to North Reading at noon on July 10, to provide them with emergency water for about 48 hours. A malfunction had occurred in one of the neighboring town's pumping stations, and DPW Head Robert McQuade said their tanks were practically dry.

Clark said he would be billing North Reading for the water at the normal rate of 87.5 cents per hundred cubic feet.

He was reminded by Selectman Susan Poore that sale of town water on a non-emergency basis must first be approved by the board.

Proceeds Of Auction Presented

Mrs. Lolli Sumberg, chairman of the Recycling Committee auction, made her annual trip to the board of selectmen meeting Monday night, to present a check for the proceeds of this spring's event.

The 1978 amount was $1320.34, slightly up from last year's $1311.09, which was returned to the Solid Waste budget for advertising.

After being complimented on her committee's work, Mrs. Sumberg noted that the auction might be more difficult next year because of last week's fire at Recreation Lodge, where the auction was held.

Adoption of a Flood Plain Statement of Assurance by the selectmen Monday night continues flood plain zoning here, and thus, according to the town manager, the ability of residents of the area to get insurance and the ability of banks to grant mortgages.

Clark said the Statement would be forwarded on to the federal government.

Utility Decisions

Sitting briefly as the Sewer Commission Monday night, the selectmen approved sewer connections for lots at 45 Algonquin Ave. and 2 Upland Road.

They later denied a request by the Bay State Gas Co. to install service to a new house at 10 River Road, because of a policy not to allow street excavations where a road has been paved within the past five years.

They did, however, approve street openings to repair gas service at 68 Park St., at Stirling and Haverhill Streets, and at 50 Whit-tier St., and to install service at 74 Lovejoy Road.

Licenses Issued

A one-day auctioneer's license was granted by the selectmen to Carl W. Stinson of Reading, for an event today at 244 So. Main Street. The selectmen also granted one-day, all-alcoholic licenses to the Christian Formation Center for wedding receptions on Sept. 2, 9 and 16; a Tenney High School reunion Sept. 23; Shaheen Brothers Food Show Sept. 25; and Johnson High reunion Sept. 30.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark told the board he was putting the licenses on the agenda extra early so they could have a lighter meeting schedule in August without jeopardizing the September fun.

The board obliged by cancelling conference sessions scheduled for July 24 and August 21. They will next meet in formal session July 31.

Schoolmen To Meet Tuesday

The Andover School Committee will meet Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., in the second floor of Stowe School.

At The Playgrounds

Ballardvale

Friday marked the end of another exciting week at Ballardvale. This week was full of events all week long. Tuesday we set off to Sanborn school to play kickball. The teams were mixed and some of the top performers were Mark Croke, Christine Mischaud, and Steven Mills.

Enrichment classes were held on schedule this week, in woodworking John Cropper and Jeff Smith had fun making their own yo-yos. In cooking, some yummy concoctions came from some of our younger chefs such as Cathy Guliani and Kristen Heller.

Since Thursday was so hot at Ballardvale, Kim led most of the group to Pumps Pond. Among those cooling off were Tina Sutton, Amy Smith and Tim Nolan. While the others remained at the park to make felt finger puppets.

The gypsies, clowns, witches and goblins joined us as we celebrated Halloween a bit early. They day's festivities included a costume contest in which Kelly, Cindy and Amy dressed up as colorful gypsies, while Colleen who received the "most original costume" award, dressed up as a clown with balloons surrounding her whole body. There were also apple dunking and doughnut on a string contests.

To cap the week off, everybody enjoyed their hotdogs and hamburgers at the playground's third weekly cookout.

Doherty

This week at the Fabulous Doherty Playground there was an International Squareball Tournament. The champs were Robert Ruel and Ryan McManus. The competition was very keen.

In the street hockey game the winning goal was scored by Scott DeGregorio with 4 seconds remaining in O.T. — a thrilling fame for all. But, the highlight of the week was the Bike Rodeo. All cow pokes and stable hands showed up for fun games, relays and contests. The winners of the "best costume" contests were, Amy Buck, Sherry Pynn, Mat Lavin, Julie Buck, Jennifer Reynolds and Sam Buffum. The winners of the obstacle course were Adam Lavin, Robert Manning, and Christina Feodoroff. The winners of the "best decorated bikes" were Mike Harrison, Danika and Christina Feodoroff, Adam Lavin, Julie Buck and Candy Kirkiles. The winners for the bike relay were the team of Robert Ruel, Aleke Msumba, Dona Leith, Barry Connors, Julie Darwin, Manuel Branco, Mat Lavin, Candy Kirkiles, Jackie Lynch, and Adam Lavin.

"Funny hat" contest winners were Stephanie Connors, Amy Buck, Sherry Pynn, and Candy Kirkiles. In the elimination games, the top performers were Barry Connors, David Star, and Jennifer Reynolds.

Last but not least came the famous relay running races. The winners were Mat Cinellie, David Start, Matt McManus, Paul Juliano. Robert Ruel followed by Jeff Manning, Greg Kinsky, Mat Lavin, Akim Msumba, Candy Kirkiles, Lorra Gilbert and Donna Leith.

Sanborn

Week No. 3 at super Sanborn started out slowly because most of our playgrounders are away with vacationing parents. However we did have a great Monday making yarn pictures and plaster of paris.

Tuesday Ballardvale visited Sanborn for an exciting kickball game, while the smaller kids made pine cone bird feeders.

Wednesday we had a surprise visit from South Playground. Together we had a boys vs. the girls kickball game. The boys were the victors with a score of 7-5.

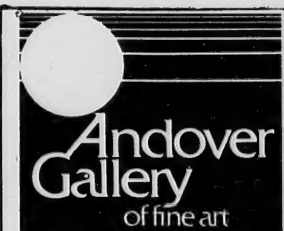

Thursday we made a watermelon salad. Helpers included Brian, Brad, Brenna and Beth Cronin. Later we had a relaxing game of Dead Dog in the gym. Winners of the Dead Dog competition were Anja Grant and Brian Cronin.

We ended our week with a cookout with our good friends from South Playground.

Shawsheen

At Shawsheen this week we played kickball with the South School. Competition between the playgrounds was not a critical part of the game this year. A great effort was made to have everyone get to know each other and have fun. In the middle of the week, Mary Alice took a group of seven to the Rec Park to join the SPARC Park for the day. Aimee Ross, Sean Ross, Andy Mailloux, Amy Sirois, Anne Marie Charland, Bobbycharland and Mary Ellen Driscoll enjoyed a scavenger hunt and a splash party while at SPARC Park. Another group from Shawsheen headed to Pumps Pond for a swim on Thursday. The end of the week was celebrated by a cookout and water balloon fight. Among the wettest and hungriest were Michelle Dumont, Arthur and Peter Stansfield, Joelle Johnson and even the school janitors. All in all it was a great week.

South

South playground was loaded with fun this week.

We welcomed Sue Petrella as our aide. Monday was spent playing soccer and bombardment. We made egg shell men using half of an egg shell.

On Tuesday we played kickball at the Shawsheen playground. Thank you Steve and Shawsheen for a great time. When we got back to South, we made yarn pictures.

On Wednesday, Carla brought a group to Sanborn for a game of kickball and bombardment. Ann and Sue made tissue paper bottles and Bob played floor hockey. Thursday brought a change in the scheduled game with Sanborn.

After the lodge burned down at Recreation Park, we invited SPARC (special needs) over to spend the day with us at South. We played several different games including kickball. We had an excellent and enjoyable day with SPARC. Our thanks to Beth Lancaster, Pippi Saalfrank

West Elementary

It was Halloween in July on Tuesday and we had all sorts of weird and wonderful costumes. Billy Willson, who also won our donut on a string contest, was a rooten', tooten' cowboy as was Jason B. Denise was a hillbilly, Kim a Baby doll, Jeffery Ring was Captain Kirk, Ray Rourke a hit-man, Hillary D. Driscoll, Muffy Morrow and Amy Skinder were wicked witches, Luan was a monster, Janice a Warrior; and Barry a Hell's Angel. The day ended with a BarnYard Holler and Janice's team walked away with most of the goodies. The ghost of West Playground visited our haunted house and really raised a few eyebrows. Doherty Playground joined as for a kickball game and stayed for lunch also. Thursday was Disco Day and Janice taught us all the latest steps. Elisabeth Robinson was our Disco Queen and the runners up were Kristen Robinson, Kimmy, Michele Gainnoni and Lala Jacobson. We tried out hand at decoupage on Wednesday while other kids took a bike hike to Rose Glen Dairy. Friday we ended the week with a cook-out and marshmallow roast, which was really yummy. Next week we are planning a Western Day and a Hat Day. On Tuesday we are going to have a baby picture contest. Our kickball team hosts South on Tuesday and travels to Shawsheen on Thursday. Wednesday most of us are planning a cruise around Boston Harbor and have lunch on George's Island.

Pre-School

It's been a busy week for all the pre-schoolers at the Doherty and West Elementary schools. The children have been busy making new friends and participating in many group activities.

On Friday the Doherty group took a hike to the bird sanctuary at Phillips Academy. They were delighted with the wild geese and had brought bread along to feed them. Kurt Ballous' mother was kind enough to accompany us on the tour. Brian Lescarbeau and John Nelson helped her bring up the rear. Sharing lunches under the shady trees ended a busy day.

Wednesday bought a trip to the library. Mrs. Hooten presented the eager, wide-eyed group with a film and a storybook about Harry, the Dog. The children looked at other books available and tried out some of the puzzles and games.

Since most pre-schoolers have never been on a school bus, the highlight of the week was a tour of Andover on the inter-playground bus. The bumpy ride brought on scores of giggles and laughter. Several children attempted to point out their homes, next year's kindergarten location, and the fire stations. The West children will have their turn on Thursday to participate in this experience.

Both schools ended the week by celebrating Halloween in July. After parading the school grounds in their costumes, they took part in a donut eating contest, pin-the-nose-on-the-pumpkin game, fish-a-letter, and guessing games. Making ghost pictures and dancing to children's disco music made it a full day.

Sparc Park

So much has happened the last week that it's hard to know where to begin! It was nice to have visitors Wednesday, a group of eight from Shawsheen, who joined in a splash party at Pumps Pond followed by a scavenger hunt. Also on Wednesday, part of our group went to Moor and Mountain to investigate different types of sporting equipment.

Earlier in the week, in preparation for the Hampton Beach trip, everyone made sand pictures and played beach games. The Greater Lawrence Community Action Council very generously donated monies for field trip transportation and supplies which will be especially appreciated now since the fire at the Rec Park Lodge.

Thursday morning while we finished a few stretching exercises, the fire began. Of greatest importance, everyone was a safe distance away, and we watched the flames and smoke while firefighters hosed the building.

South helped out very much by inviting us to their playground where we played kickball and other games. Some of the younger crowd went to a Halloween party at West Elementary and had a lot of fun.

Meanwhile, all the arts and crafts and sports stuff was destroyed along with a few other things, and swimming gear was smoked and wet. But everyone took the experience in stride, and we were very happy that no one had been hurt.

Friday turned out to be a great beach day.

Kyle Named A Chamber Director

The appointment of Alfred S. Kyle as a director of the Andover Chamber of Commerce has been announced by President Jeffrey S. French.

Kyle, plant manager of Hewlett-Packard in West Andover, will be presented to other board members at their September meeting. He'll serve the Chamber in its industrial development program.

The Chamber's goal, according to French, is to continue its aggressive development activities, in view of the many prospects interested in Andover, and the favorable action that's taken place in the past few years. Consolidating energies and resources with the town's Industrial Commission will assure even greater activity, French said.

Kyle and his wife Deborah live at 117 Elm St., with their two children.

Cadet Hazarvartian, a student at the University of Kansas, is a 1976 graduate of North Andover High School.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

The next time you phone The Haven, don't be surprised if the phone is answered "Council on Aging" — an effort to convey the relationship of The Haven to the Council and to the new town Department of Community Services. Dottie Winn, Director of The Haven has recently been designated Director of Elder Services under the new Department of Community Services.

July 20 there will be a special meeting of The Haven Associates to introduce all the new committee chairmen to the members. The meeting will convene at 2 p.m. and every Andover resident over 60 is invited, since every resident over 60 is eligible for membership.

A new film series has started at The Haven and Monday afternoons at 1:30 should find you comfortably seated in the air-conditioned Haven watching feature films. Next Monday they will show "Day of the Dolphin." Why not plan to get your friends together for an afternoon at the movies?

To get you in the mood for preparing the Christmas Bazaar in the Fall, there will be a Christmas in July party at The Haven, Tuesday, July 25 at 2 p.m. There will be hot chocolate and carol singing and should be fun. There is no charge and no reservations required. Do come!

Wednesday, July 26 is the date for the next Pot Luck Lunch. You are asked to call The Haven to let them know what you plan to bring so that they may plan. Call 475-3968 or 475-4165 to let them know you're coming.

A trip to Rockport is slated for Aug. 2. It will cost $4 for transportation to this lovely scenic example of New England loveliness, and any other costs depend on how much you choose to spend. The bus will leave Essex Street at 9:30 and return about 4:30. You must sign up right away at The Haven if you want to go.

And while you're there, you might sign up for the Salisbury Beach Senior Citizens Day — August 17. This annual event is sponsored by the merchants of Salisbury and includes a sing-a-long, a banjo band and lots of reduced prices. The bus will leave The Haven at 10 a.m. and will cost $3 for the ride there and back.

If you need transportation to any activity at The Haven it is available Free for the asking. you must give them 24 hours notice, but don't feel you can't participate in Haven activities because you don't have a ride. You do have a ride if you'll ask for it!

Accepted At Wentworth

Two Andover residents have been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston for the year beginning in September. They are Julia Morse, Phillips Street, and James C. Wetterburg, 85 Lowell St.

In ancient times carrots were eaten for their medicinal properties as were other vegetables. Greek physicians prescribed carrots for a stomach tonic, and they were fed to horses to improve breathing. Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Ninth Graders Promoted At West Jr. High

West Junior High's graduating ninth graders were presented to High School Principal Philip Wormwood last month, at the end of the traditional Awards Assembly.

The vent had all the earmarks of a graduation, with the students marching to "Pomp and Circumstance," and recessing to John Philip Sousa's "King Cotton."

Student Council President Kenneth Taylor led the Salute to the Flag, and Student Council Secretary Mary Beth Boland gave her reflections.

Following a musical "Memories" by Pat Conlon and the Girls Glee Club, a host of awards were presented by various faculty members and students.

Summer Reading In Large Type

A new shipment of large type books has just arrived. These books have type twice the size of standard editions which made them especially useful for people with visual problems. Most of the new books are fiction — mysteries, westerns, and general interest reading — and include "The Yesterday Rider" a western by Ray Hogan, "Tumbleweed" a mystery by Janwillem van de Metering, "Touch and Go" by Cyril Northcote Parkinson, "A Most Romantic City" by Mary Ann Gibbs, "Subway to Samarkand" by John Humphreys, and "The Thorn Birds" by Colleen McCullough is finally available in a large type edition, so put in your reserves now!

Speed Reading

A speed reading course is being organized for August. Scheduled to begin August 15, there will be six sessions on successive Tuesday and Thursday mornings through August 31. Most participants find they will double or triple their reading rate and retain good comprehension. Space is limited to 30, so sign up now. The cost is $40.

Children's Room News

By Ruth Hooten

Registration for both Summer Reading Clubs has closed but there are still ongoing activities that require no registration. For preschoolers ages 3½ - 5 years, we have Story Garden on Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. No registration is required to come and listen to 45 minutes of stories, songs, and surprises. For children 6 years and older, we have full length feature movies at 2 p.m. On July 26, we will be showing "The Island of the blue Dolphins," an exciting adventure of an Indian girl who was marooned on an island for 17 years! Tickets will be given out at 1:30 p.m., so try to come on time to get a ticket.

Our display case is empty and we are looking for items to fill it. If you have a hobby, collection, or items of interest that you would like to see on display, call the Children's Room.

Shupe Is Scholarship Recipient

Gregg D. Shupe of 76 Salem Street was recently awarded a one thousand dollar scholarship by the New England Camera Club Council at its annual conference at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

Over 1500 amateur and professional photographers usually attend this three day affair. Each year one outstanding young photographer is selected from the many who are proposed by the sponsoring camera clubs.

Shupe was proposed by the Lawrence Camera Club.

One of the requirements for this award is that the student shall attend an accepted college and study for a degree in photography.

Shupe has had several local print exhibits including the Memorial Hall Library, Andover School Administration Building and the Andover High School Art Show. He also exhibited at the East Junior High open house and at the Lawrence Camera Club where he is a member.

He is enrolled at the Rochester Institute of Technology where he will study professional photography. He hopes to eventually become a magazine photographer.

Medical Memorabilia At Museum

Remember when one bottle of medicine cured all ills? When people said "Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong — it purifies the blood and improves the complexion!"

Visitors to the Lowell Museum through Aug. 28 will have the opportunity to learn about another important industry that made 19th century Lowell a leader in New England commerce. Three major companies, specializing in patent medicines, are highlighted in this exhibit. J.C. Ayer Co., Father John's Medicine and C.I. Hood Co., all began their operations in Lowell and were as well known for their advertising techniques as for their medicines.

On display at the museum are rare photographs, prescription records, medicine bottles and unusual and colorful assortment of early advertising materials. BEcause these three companies sold their products throughout the world, the exhibit includes examples of multi-lingual signs, boxes and almanacs. Of the three companies on display, only Father John's Medicine is still producing patent medicines.

The Lowell Museum is day 1 to 5. Admission is $1 for adults and $.50 for open Tuesday through Senior Citizens and Saturday 10 to 5 and Sun- children under 15.

Hit It Again!

Mrs. Theresa Terry, a teacher of handicapped children at the Village School in West Stockbridge, watches as nine-year-old Rosie works with a learning-aid device made for her by the Pioneer service organization at Western Electric's Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover. The bulbs light up in sequence and Rosie, a victim of cerebral palsy who is unable to talk, presses a switch to stop the light on the answer she wants.

Finding A Way To Communicate

Learning can be a frustrating experience, even under the best of circumstances. When the circumstances include cerebral palsy, the educational process is especially discouraging. Fortunately, some of the frustration has been eliminated for a least one victim of the affliction — thanks to the efforts of the Telephone Pioneer organization at Western Electric's Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover.

Community projects and aid to handicapped individuals are major endeavors of the Telephone Pioneers of America, composed of 510,000 active and retired telephone employees. And a little girl named Rosie is one of the beneficiaries.

Rosie is a nine-year-old with a cheerful face and smile that could melt lead. She is one of 14 students in Theresa Terry's class for handicapped children in West Stockbridge. Afflicted with cerebral palsy, Rosie can't walk, eat by herself or talk.

To help Rosie communicate with the world, the Merrimack Valley Works chapter of the Pioneers built a special teaching/communication device. The device is a large upright board with 16 squares containing various answers to problems as well as bulbs that light up in sequence. When the bulb lights up in a desired square, the child presses down on a switch and stops the light from moving to the next square, thereby indicating an answer or response.

For example, pictures of ice cream, peas, carrots and pizza were taped to different squares so that Rosie could communicate what she wanted for lunch.

The board can be used for teaching reading skills and vocabulary, solving math problems, choosing menus, explaining thoughts and emotions and carrying on simple conversations. Mrs. Terry has accumulated a small pile of interchangeable cards for the squares and reworks additional ones with a felt pen.

"Rosie has emotions just like you or I, but she can't express them," said Mrs. Terry. "She can use this device as a way of bridging the gap."

Mrs. Terry had first brought her idea for such a machine to Tim Chichester, a New York Tel employee. Tim later saw a Pioneer exhibit in New York, which included Merrimack Valley's "audio ball" — a beeping softball that provides blind kids with the thrill of hitting a home. He then asked the Pioneer if they could also build a teaching aid machine.

Dick Bates, a Merrimack Valley Works Pioneer, came up with the original design for the device, which included the use of a large, flat footswitch that could be easily operated by the hand of a child with poor muscle control. Retirement came along before Dick could complete the project and it was passed on to Jim Shields, one of his coworkers. The cabinet was made at the Merrimack Valley carpentry shop.

A second machine has been built for Rosie as well. It includes an auditory cue that beeps when she hits the switch, adding to her enjoyment as well as confirming that the selected square is indeed the one she wants.

"I intend to use this machine with the other children and to show it to other teachers around the area," said Mrs. Terry. "I hope I can make other teachers aware that such devices are available and that people like the Telephone Pioneers are out there and willing to help."

Kiley Stars In 'LaMancha'

For the first time ever, Richard Kiley, the original Broadway star, will play his immortal role of Don Quixote in "The Impossible Dream" musical "Man of La Mancha" in Boston, opening a limited engagement Aug. 1 at the Music Hall. This is the same already legendary production which has become the all-time record-breaking popular phenomenon in a tour of the United States which began last summer.

The statistics so far have made their way into the annals of show business world records and will easily prove "La Mancha" history's most successful musical: highest gross tickets sales ever at the National Theatre in Washington; the limited run in Broadway's Palace Theatre extended to accommodate the massive demand for tickets; record attendance in Los Angeles ($3.7 million in twelve weeks) — surpassing any show ever in Southern California; and in Chicago, probably the highest grossing legitimate attraction ever in theatre history anywhere!

Pundits are attributing the unprecedented success of this new production of "Man of La Mancha" to several factors including the rare opportunity to see Richard Kiley — the genuine original portrayal in the musical which earned five Tony Awards plus all the other awards of that season, and set off a tidal wave of other productions throughout the world in over thirty languages in fifty countries since Kiley first starred in "La Mancha" almost thirteen years ago on Nov. 22, at the ANTA Washington Square Theatre in New York. Kiley has never played "La Mancha" in most of the cities this new tour will reach — including Boston, where people of all ages from throughout New England are expected to respond to this — probably their last chance to participate in a definitive theatrical event.

Another reason for the new production's immense ability to please large audiences is that producer Eugene V. Wolsk has been meticulous in assembling the winning ingredients of the original production, including original director Albert Marre and original settings by Howard Bay.

In addition to his Best Actor Tony Award for "La Mancha," Richard Kiley also was awarded the Drama Critics' Poll and Drama League Awards. He is seen on screen in the current film "looking for Mr. Goodbar" as Diane Keaton's father. A radio soap opera juvenile on "Tom Mix" and "The Guiding Light," he was first seen on Broadway in Shaw's "Misalliance," for which he won the Theatre World Award.

Playwright Dale Wasserman, who transformed the work of Miguel de Cervantes — probably the world's first and most famous novel — into the contemporary musical form of "Man of La Mancha," is also well known for his play "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

"Man of La Mancha" was Mitch Leigh's first Broadway musical and won virtually every theatre award for him (Tony, Drama Critics' Circle, Variety Poll, Yale School of Music Certificate of Merit and the Songwriters' Hall of Fame Award citing "The Impossible Dream" as a contemporary classic.)

Tickets are now on sale for all performances of "Man of La Mancha" at the Music Hall through Sept. 3. It has been usual in other cities where the attraction has played for virtually all seats for the entire engagement to be completely sold out before the opening date. Tickets are on sale in person at the Music Hall Box Office, 268 Tremont Street, by mail order, at all Ticketron outlets, or by calling Theatrecharge.

Families Needed For Students

Charles Nugent, local coordinator for the EF Institute for Cultural Exchange program which is bringing French students to North Andover Aug. 4 to 30, states that while the teacher and curriculum are ready and field trips planned, five young men and women do not yet have local host families with whom to stay.

The students aged 14 to 21, are coming to improve English skills and learn about American culture in the context of family living. Classes are scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at St. Michael's School in North Andover. Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, field trips to points of interest in Greater Boston will be scheduled, and host family members are welcome to participate.

Persons who will be home during August and would enjoy being a part of an "international experience," are asked to contact Nugent at 75 Meadow Lane, North Andover.

Spanish Students Arrive

A group of students from Spain arrived in Andover last week, through the American Institute for Foreign Study, to attend morning classes at Phillips Academy and get acquainted with the area.

They're staying with families in town, and above, Octavio Sarda from Barcelona is "at home" playing cribbage with "host father" Don Ellsworth of Roseglen Drive, while Mrs. Ellsworth and Diane, 3, look on. Another host sister, Mary, 16 was at work.

The Language of Flowers

by Gerry Trull

All plants need a balanced diet and the most important nutrients are nitrogen, potassium and phosphorus. In fact, all growing things need nitrogen and for good leaf growth, plants must have it. They need phosphorous for healthy roots and flowers and potassium to provide sturdy stems and resistance to disease. A sure sign of poor nutrition is the appearance of yellow leaves around the mid-section and bottom of your plants. These will eventually wither and drop off. Another sign of hunger is a red or purple tinge at the tips and outer edges of leaves. So if your plants have a haggard look and you're not overwatering look into their diet and feed them carefully.

And look into the beautiful selection of plants available at TRULL'S MILL HILL FLOWER CENTER, 411 River Rd., 851-6161 to add to your collection. Let us bring your office to life with our plants too. Family owned and serving the Lowell-Lawrence area for over 25 years, we also feature an outstanding array of fresh, dried and silk flowers for all your floral needs. Open: 9-5:30 Mon-Sat.

Bids Out For Lodge Razing

Recreation Park Lodge, largely destroyed by flash fire last Thursday morning, won't be razed for another two or three weeks.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark had hoped to tear down the badly damaged structure immediately, to prevent possibility of injury to curious passersby, but the job had to be put out to bid.

Clark told selectmen Monday night that one of the two massive stone fireplaces and the foundation of the popular outing spot for church, family and scout-type groups will be saved, in hopes of possibly incorporating them into a new structure.

He said he will be studying the various post uses of the building, and what it might be used for in the future, before making a recommendation about its replacement. He indicated, however that he would probably be looking for a new structure, and said he hopes to have a proposal in time for October town meeting.

Meanwhile, Clark asks groups interested in using the building or the playing fields to write him a letter stating their cases.

Clark's most immediate concern is to tear down the badly damaged structure to prevent the possibility of injury. While he hoped to do it immediately, the job had to be put out for bid.

Had the Fire Department not been so efficient, he noted ironically Monday night, the process of razing might not have been so expensive.

Clark estimated the insurance-covered loss at about $60,000. While there's a deductible of $40,000, he said the town has saved far more than that over the years by paying appropriately lower premiums.

The fire erupted shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday morning, while three Recreation Department CETA workers were in the storage area of the building to get chairs for an evening concert. The probable cause was a propane gas leak, triggered when one of the workers flicked his cigarette lighter.

Neither the workers nor a group of special needs youngsters participating in a summer camp program nearby were injured.

Lost, however, was the new motorcycle belonging to one of the workers, and the bicycle of one of the camp counsellors.

Fire Chief William Downs said Engines 1, 2 and 3, plus the aerial platform and Car 8 arrived at the scene within minutes, and were tied up there for four and a half hours. Meanwhile a North Andover engine responded to a Code 1 and filled in down at Central Station.

Recreation Director Joan Pearson this week expressed hope that the lodge would be rebuilt as quickly as possible, since it got more use than any of the other town buildings.

She said it was all booked for the rest of the summer and early fall for various activities. The department received rent of up to $10 per hour for the building.

Mrs. Pearson said the playing field lights had been off due to electrical damage at the Lodge, causing some problems with baseball teams. However, she said she expected them to be working again yesterday.

Clark noted that the fire was particularly untimely because the year-long reorganization of the Recreation Department has not been completed, the Recreation Committee is still short two members, and this is the busiest season for the department, which is still short a major staff member.

"They have a staggering work load," he said.

Assistant Town Manager Sheldon Cohen added Monday night that Bureau of Recreation funds "theoretically" might be available for a multi-use building.

Water Problem Could Continue Till Spring

Shawsheen residents, plagued with rusty water for more than a year, were asked Monday night to be patient for another week or two.

They also were told, however, that the ultimate solution to their problems could be as far away as next spring, and they generally considered the offer of a $40 rebate small payment for the inconveniences they've had to put up with.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade told the residents and selectmen that the watermain cleaning process, using the foam plug method, has been completed on Carisbrooke and lower York streets, and that he has observed marked improvement.

He said they had cleaned a tremendous amount of material from the mains, and that he felt slow circulation of water through the area would clean up the remaining rust in the next week or two.

James R. Sellers, representing the Friends of Shawsheen, and himself a resident of lower York, said the residents were desperate for an alternative.

He said many of the residents have had to go out and have their laundry done at the laundromat every day, and that some have had to buy water for drinking and cooking purposes.

He said he felt the problem was actually worse now than it was before the DPW began its cleaning process, and asked if the selectmen could call an emergency town meeting to fund new mains if the cleaning didn't prove satisfactory.

McQuade, however, said that by the time preparations could be made for town meeting, it would be nearly time for the scheduled October town meeting.

In either case, he said, he didn't think there "was a prayer" of getting all the engineering plans completed and contracts let in time to start building during the 1978 construction season.

Former Selectman Philip Salamone, who lives on Carisbrooke, said that when the cleaning had been done vigorously, the water was clear, but when they stopped, it deteriorated rapidly to the point they couldn't even wash clothes in it.

"It doesn't sound like I will be drinking water from my faucet until next summer," he said.

What concerned him the most, however, was the possible effect rusty and sedimented water could have on heating systems during the winter, and McQuade assured him the DPW would do "whatever we have to do to keep it as clean as we can." Though he said freezing could be a

Residents Appointed To Financing Authority

Five members of the Development and Industrial Commission were named Monday night to the newly formed Industrial Development Financing Authority. As such, they have the power to authorize tax-exempt bonds to local industries.

The Board of Selectmen also confirmed appointments to the new Solid Waste Study Committee, which will be exploring options open to the community in time for some action by next spring's town meeting, and several others.

Named to the new Financing Authority are Dr. Lawrence Spiegel, who has experience in town government, for a five-year term; George J. Fantini, Jr., with financial expertise, for four years; Robert Finlayson, with real estate experience, for three years; George Ziady, two years; and Dorothy Sherrerd, one year.

Finlayson had first been confirmed to the Industrial Commission.

On the Solid Waste Study Committee are Thomas Stark, Reginald Marden and Nancy Mulvey. They'll be assisted by a non-voting resource committee consisting of Clark Lewis, Walter Niessen and John J. Lewis.

Selectman Virginia Cole read the draft of a charge to the study committee, asking for recommendations on both immediate and long-range solutions, with special evaluation of regional versus local plants, the proposed Northeast Solid waste plant in North Andover; the proposal plant in Peabody; the existing one in Saugus; and various New Hampshire proposals.

She said she also wanted to know how recycling would affect all of the plans, and have cost chart and time tables.

The other selectmen are to consider the proposed charge for possible action at their next meeting.

By way of other appointments Monday night, Paul Teplitz, 8 Mayflower Drive, was named to the Planning Board, with Dennis St. John, 50 School St., as-sort of a member-elect. Susan Sullivan of Coolidge Road was named an alternate to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Appointed to the School Building Resource Bank was John Doyle, 40 Reservation Road, while Daniel Pingree was appointed to the Conservation Commission for a three-year term; and Kenneth DeBenedictis, 3 Surrey Lane, and Don P. Scott, 97 Chestnut St., to the Recreation/Community Schools Committee, with Scott representing the Council on Aging.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark noted that he had limited the School Building Committee to nine, which he considered a workable number, but that he had set up an advisory board of other interested people who had expertise in certain relevant areas. Doyle, who is affiliated with the Merrimack Valley Symphony Orchestra, represents fine arts. Other members include a spokesman for the handicapped and two student alternates.

Clark also noted that Pingree, a retired forester, is uniquely qualified for the conservation appointment.

$50,000 Item On Tap For Fall Meeting

A couple of weeks ago it looked as if October Town Meeting might be bypassed entirely this year, but Monday night the selectmen officially set the date and got a preview of things to come.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark indicated that he would insert an article seeking some $50,000 in design and engineering funds for improvements to the Elm Square intersection.

Clark said that 100 percent state and federal funding through the Urban Highway Systems is possible for all improvements, including signals, curbs, sidewalks, even trash barrels and park benches, providing the community shows its good faith by funding the plans.

He said the town's desire to have the signals at the Chestnut Street and Elm Square intersections coordinated could bring the total price tag to between half and three-quarters of a million dollars.

Town meeting was set for Oct. 23, with the warrant opening at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 28 and closing at 4:30 p.m. Sept. 15.

Selectman Chairman Albert Cole said he hoped to avoid the special meeting with town meeting, which "seems to have become a habit lately," if at all possible.

Mosquito control and possible rezoning of the Abbot Property also appear to be likely warrant articles.

Kudos From Concord

Sometimes it takes an outsider to tell us how good things are around home.

This time the reminder comes by letter from a young lady in Concord, who praises Andover schools specifically for the oral history project, and generally for "programs designed to help students understand their community and the world."

Indeed, with the school committee and school personnel enjoying a relative honeymoon, the staff seems to be getting back to the business of schooling and innovation is flourishing.

Oral history is just one of many commendable new projects coming out of the schools.

Another is the early childhood development program given a trial run at Doherty on a small scale last year, and now scheduled for a class of 18 youngsters who would normally be going on into first grade in the fall.

Youngsters who have developmental lags of some sort — intellectual, physical, emotional or social — will be placed in a core classroom where the teachers can guide them individually until they're ready to join the regular academic program.

Principal Lois Haslam feels the program could "substantially" reduce the need for special, Chapter 766-type services at the fourth or fifth grade levels, where many problems finally show up.

The Doherty staff has also worked closely with parents in setting up the program — another healthy arrangement.

Still another example is an alternative curriculum plan that will be tackled by the Bancroft staff during the coming year.

Principal Jack Coyle told the school committee recently that their methods would include some in-the-field type experience to make curriculum more meaningful.

For instance, instead of just counting out money in class and doing problems on paper, youngsters might be taken downtown into the stores to learn comparative shopping and values, and learn first-hand just how far the dollar goes.

And take the ingenious lunch program at Andover High. Cafeteria Director Richard Baron, by adding a salad bar and submarine and hamburger-hot dog lines,

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Recently, I had the opportunity to learn about your town's oral history program and talk to some of those involved in it. What a great opportunity for the students of Andover. Certainly, basic skills are important in education, but relevant learning is a welcome addition. Also, I can imagine how pleased your students will be when their book, "Taking Care of Our Heritage," is published. From what I've seen of the manuscript, it surely reflects a lot of dedication on the part of Andover's ninth graders. Their sensitivity towards the senior citizens is reflected in each page. They should be very proud of their endeavor.

I never had the opportunity to experience such a program in my own education even though I live in a very history-conscious town. The reason — no one here really feels that high school students have the ability to handle such assignments, and many times they don't feel that young people care.

Yet, what better way to see history as a living entity, to learn to relate to older people, and to realize what one can really accomplish if he tries his best. What a great way to motivate students!

I really hope that more school systems follow Andover's lead and begin to develop programs based on your model. I also hope that Andover continues its fine spirit of education by developing more programs designed to help students understand their community and the world.

Kathleen V. Bozzi
Concord

has encouraged many more students to eat nutritious lunches, and practically eliminated scraps — all at no additional cost to the taxpayer.

We can't help but agree with School Committeeman Joseph Finn who, after the Doherty presentation noted:

"I'm impressed the most with the dynamic and innovative approach of the Andover School System. The folks are really thinking out there."

We hope they don't stop.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Inflation's Nation's No. 1 Worry, Re-election Is President Carter's

WASHINGTON — President Carter has notified his Cabinet, according to secret Cabinet minutes, that inflation is "the number one public concern." He said it made not only good sense but good politics to "oppose excessive spending bills."

The president's goal, meanwhile, is to bring the inflation rate down to 6 or 7 percent by 1980. He's looking for ways to dramatize his anti-inflation effort. He may hold fireside chats, for example, on national television and invite inflation fighters to appear with him at the White House. They could be corporate executives or small businessmen.

Carter, meanwhile, has been hitting new lows in the popularity polls. He has antagonized just about every interest group. He is criticized from every quarter; his own party leaders are whispering that he's a one-term president.

But we can report that Carter has no intention of giving up the White House at the end of his first term. Sources close to the president say he intends to run for re-election and expects to win.

Here's how he intends to do it: He'll start holding fireside chats; visit the grassroots more often; hold more town meetings. He'll invite people to ask him questions on people-to-president radio shows.

Carter also plans to play politics for the next two years. He'll help congressmen and senators who support him. And he'll withhold presidential favors from uncooperative congressmen and senators.

The president will also hit the popular issues. He'll concentrate on reforming the Civil Service and reorganizing government. He'll attack the special privileges of doctors, lawyers, oil companies and big business.

Finally, he'll remind the voters that they've enjoyed stability under his leadership — no major crises, no rioting in the streets, no rebellion on the campuses.

That's his re-election story. And he's got two years to make it work.

Continuing Battle: Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has been under fire from farmers ever since he took over the Agriculture Department. In Texas, they literally threw eggs and grapefruit at him.

The battle isn't over. Bergland's now headed for a new showdown over the price of wheat. One cause of low wheat prices is Canadian price cutting. The Canadians have kept wheat prices down by underbidding U.S. prices. Yet the Agriculture Department has made no move to end the price war.

So three farm-state senators flew to Canada on their own. They were George McGovern, D-S.D., John Melcher, D-Mont., and Henry Bellmon, R-Okla. They spoke to members of the Canadian parliament. Afterward, the senators told my staff that the meeting was more productive than they had hoped, that the Canadians are willing to end the price cutting.

But Secretary Bergland, apparently, is not pleased. His aides charged that the senators were trying to form a grain cartel to offset the Arab oil cartel. The aides said Bergland considers the matter a moral issue.

The senators denied that they're trying to set exorbitant world wheat prices the way the oil sheikdoms have done with oil. All they want to do, they told us, is to keep wheat prices above farming costs. With this as their objective, they would like to stop wheat-producing countries from working against one another.

No Decision: The Supreme Court's recent Bakke decision left many questions unanswered about the issue of reverse discrimination. But the decision didn't even touch upon another kind of discrimination that's rampant in this country — the admission of students to medical and other schools because of their parents' wealth or political connections.

We've reported about the evidence of payoffs and political influence we found at more than a dozen medical schools, including the Davis Campus of the University of California, where Allan Bakke was rejected.

One Health, Education and Welfare Department official told us that "nobody seems to notice that the rich are still being assured of their quota." Now it appears that HEW might try to do something about the problem. The department is considering launching its own investigation into favoritism shown the rich and the mighty in school admissions. HEW's inspector general is now reviewing several proposals for such an investigation. Our sources say that HEW Secretary Joseph Califano is taking a personal interest in the matter.

Headlines and Footnotes: Federal narcotics officials are paying special attention to Braniff Airlines Flight 920, which travels three times a week from Brazil into Lima, Peru and then on to California. Authorities have nabbed over 10,000 grams of cocaine on the 920. They've made five separate seizures in just the past few months — far more than on any other similar commercial flight ...

Vice President Walter Mondale returned from Israel last week. He took a plane load of prominent people with him. But we've learned that one prominent figure refused to go. He's Lane Kirkland, secretary-treasurer of the powerful AFL-CIO. A spokesman acknowledged that Kirkland turned down the invitation. The spokesman explained that the AFL-CIO has had a close relationship with Israel and its trade union movement. Kirkland refused the invitation because he did not want to be part of any apparent attempt to pressure the Israelis ...

Thousands of American technicians have poured into Saudi Arabia to help the Arabs pump their oil. But there is a danger to foreigners in Saudi Arabia who don't understand the strict Moslem customs of the country. Two Englishmen were recently flogged for peddling home brew in violation of Moslem law. There are strict penalties for other violations. Thieves are punished by the amputations of their right hands. Highway robbers have hands and feet chopped off. Now, the United States government has made a book available to Americans traveling to Saudi Arabia to warn them of the dangers of violating Moslem law.

It is a mistake to think of food supplements as drugs. They are a kind of food, a rich source of nutrients presented to us in a convenient form. Actually, the major difference between food supplements and our regular diet is that supplements don't have much taste and are swallowed without being chewed.

Compared to their content of vitamins and minerals, they are very low in calories. They are just what their name implies, supplements, not a substitute for a well-regulated diet. No matter how careful we are, we might find that our regular diet cannot supply all the nutrients needed in a convenient and reasonable manner. So, we use food supplements.

It's no mistake to include natural foods in your diet; indeed, we at NATURAL FOOD & VITAMINS, 239 Winthrop Ave., Jct. 495 & 114, Lawrence, 683-7140 feed that there are many benefits, and we will be happy to discuss them with you. All-Star Tournament Continues Friday

By Rick Harrison

It's All-Star time for Little Leaguers around the world, and in Andover things were no different this past week as the Andover American, Andover National and Senior Little League Stars opened play in the single-elimination District 14 Tournament.

Andover American started successfully with a 4-3 extra-inning victory over Newburyport.

Andover National had its first game against Lawrence Prospect Hill postponed by wet grounds last Monday night, but weather permitting the game was to have been played last night — after TOWNSMAN presstime.

The survivor of the National-Prospect Hill contest is scheduled to face Andover American tomorrow night at 5:45 p.m. at the West Elementary School field.

Should it be American Vs. National, the probably pitching match-up will be undefeated Mike Twomey (9-0) of the National All-Stars against either southpaw Billy Vickers or Mike Coelho for the Americans.

The Andover Senior All-Stars have been eliminated from the tourney, but not before they made their presence felt.

The locals opened with an impressive 8-2 victory over Billerica American, but then were ousted 3-2 in the quarterfinals by Tewksbury American last weekend.

American, 4-3

Mike Gibson's sharp single to rightfield rescued Scott Zimmerman in the bottom of the seventh inning, boosting the Andover American All-Stars to their taut 4-3 opening victory over Newburyport at West Elementary.

Righthander Rick Desmarais went the distance on the mound for Andover, scattering five hits, walking two and striking out five. He also hit two batters, and all three runs against him were earned.

Bob Kozel was the hard-luck loser for Newburyport, although he did allow 11 hits in his route-going effort. Kozel didn't walk a batter, fanned four and uncorked a pair of wild pitches. Three of Andover's four runs were earned.

Newburyport threatened in the top of the first inning when Jeff Fogel and Bill Gurczak stroked back-to-back one-out singles. However, third baseman Mike Coelho and second baseman Tom Powers clicked off a doubleplay to end the inning.

Andover American struck for a 3-0 lead in its initial time at bat, parlaying four hits and one Newburyport error.

Scott Zimmerman beat out an infield hit to start things, and he raced to third on Billy Vickers' crisp single to rightfield.

Jeff Crowninshield followed with a double, the game's only extra-base blow, scoring Zimmerman and sending Vickers to third.

Mike Gibson kept the rally going with a run-producing single to centerfield, and when the ball was misplayed Crowninshield crossed with the third run.

Kozel then settled down and retired the side on two strikeouts and an infield bouncer.

Desmarais hit Pete Adolph with a pitch in the second, but the visitors couldn't take advantage. Brian Barry launched the Andover second with a solid single to left, and he was bunted to second by Brian Sheehy, but Kozel then settled down to avert further trouble.

Desmarais retired Newburyport 1-2-3 in the third, while Andover kept stirring around without results in the bottom of the inning.

Mike Gibson reached on a one-out error and Mike Coelho walked. Gibson took third on a forceout, but was left stranded on an infield bouncer.

Newburyport tied the game with three runs in the fourth, taking advantage of Desmarais' sudden wild streak.

Having thrown only 40 pitches through the first three innings, Rick needed 36 serves to retire eight Newburyport All-Stars in this stanza.

Bill Gurczak drew a leadoff walk, Bob Kozel was hit by a pitch, and Steve Dresser's single loaded the bases.

Pete Adolph's single to rightfield rescued one run, and a walk to Jamie Halloran forced in the second tally. Chris Berry's infield out brought in the tying run, and then Desmarais retired the next two batters to end the uprising.

Andover American threatened once again in the bottom of the fourth, when Doug Lindquist legged out an infield single and John Sheedy laid down a perfect bunt single. Kozel moved down the next three hitters, however.

Kozel drilled a two-out single in the Newburyport fifth, but he died on first, and then Andover went down 1-2-3 in the bottom of the inning.

Desmarais had his strongest inning in the sixth, stopping the visitors on a fly ball and two strikeouts.

The home half of the sixth began with a Tom Powers' single to leftfield. He was sacrificed to second by Doub Lindquist, and then Charlie Ziegenbein was summoned to pinch run.

Bill Foley popped out, and the stanza ended when Ziegenbein was nailed at third base trying to advance on a wild pitch. It was a good gamble, but Newburyport catcher Pete Adolph fired a strike to nip the runner.

The game moved into extra innings, and Desmarais put the side down in order to make it seven straight hitters he had retired.

Andover then scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh, which progressed much like the first inning.

Scott Zimmerman opened with a line single to leftfield. Billy Vickers hit a dribbler to the mound, and both hands were safe when Fogel's throw to second base was too late to get Zimmerman.

Zimmerman tagged and went to third on Jeff Crowninshield's long fly to rightfield, setting the stage for Mike Gibson's clutch RBI single to right.

Gibson, Zimmerman and Vickers were all 2-for-4 for Andover, while solo safeties went to Crowninshield, Lindquist, Barry, Sheedy and Powers. Gibson drove in two runs and Zimmerman scored a pair.

The Newburyport singles were by Fogel, Kozel, Adolph, Gurczak and Dresser.

Defensively for the winners, pitcher Rick Desmarais had four assists, third baseman Mike Coelho three assists and one putout, second baseman Tom Powers three putouts and one assist, first baseman Billy Vickers five putouts, and rightfielder Jeff Crowninshield four putouts.

Catcher Scott Zimmerman had seven putouts, no passed balls; and didn't have a stolen base against him.

Overall the Andover team played errorless ball.

Defensive standouts for Newburyport were pitcher Kozel with two putouts and five assists, second baseman Steve Dresser, and catcher Adolph with six putouts, one assist and no passed balls.

Desmarais finished the game with 107 pitches while Kozel made 95.

Both Newburyport Manager Bill Gurczak, whose scrappy team included three girls, and Andover American skipper Walt McHendry played everyone on their squads.

The game was well-attended and the umpiring work of Tom Desharnais (plate), Charlie Doherty (first) and Bob Mondri (third) was excellent.

Andover Seniors, 8-2

The Andover Senior Little League All-Stars launched their quest for the District 14 championship by trouncing the visiting Billerica American Stars 8-2 at the Phillips-Andover Academy varsity field last week.

After falling behind 1-0 in the first inning, Manager Bob Merola's club scored three runs in the second, one in the third, and broke the game open with four more in the sixth.

Billerica American took advantage of starting pitcher Jim Herman's wildness, notching that first run without benefit of a hit.

Glen McIntyre was summoned in relief in the first frame, and he proceeded to hurl 6-plus stanzas of three-hit ball. McIntyre struck out seven and walked four.

Billerica pitchers Phil Medeiros and Dave Stevens, who entered during the four-run sixth, combined to limit Andover to just four hits.

Adam Roberts lashed a two-run double for the winners while Kevin Grundy, Dave Rossback and Doub Awley stroked singles. Ralph Hancock collected two RBI.

Bob Walsh rapped a second inning double for Billerica, while Jim Miner and Blaise MacDonald added singles.

Defensive standouts for Andover were shortstop John Merola, third baseman Kevin Grundy and rightfielder Dave Rossback.

Tewksbury, 3-2

The single-elimination tournament trail came to an abrupt halt for the Andover Senior League Stars last Sunday evening, as they dropped a tough 3-2 decision to 1977 District 14 finalist Tewksbury American at Antonelli Field in Tewksbury.

Winning pitcher Fred Mainey fired a four-hitter, fanning 11 and walking only one.

Andover starter Adam Roberts (four innings) and reliever Kevin Grundy surrendered 11 hits between them.

Tewksbury notched single runs in the first, second and third frames, while Andover scored both its runs in the third.

Mainey settled down over the second half of the contest, retiring in order the last 12 Andover batters he faced during the final four innings.

Tewksbury American grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first on a walk to Russ Barnes; and singles by Joe Sacco and Pete Michaels.

It went to 2-0 in the second. Dan Monroe and Ed Harrison lashed leadoff singles, and after Mainey lined into a doubleplay, Barnes slugged an RBI double to rescue Monroe.

The final Tewksbury run was the result of consecutive doubles by Michaels and John Barry.

Andover reached Mainey in the third as Tim Bolduc singled, Dave Roberts walked and Adam Roberts laced an RBI single.

Glen McIntyre followed with a single, plating Dave Roberts, but Adam Roberts was cut down at home on a fine relay throw from rightfielder Harrison to pitcher Mainey to catcher Jim Cooney.

Andover never threatened thereafter.

Jim Herman added a second inning single for Andover, while Glen McIntyre was a defensive standout in rightfield.

AAA Award Received By Rolling Green

Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn has received one of the highest honors a hotel, motel or resort can earn — the American Automobile Association's Four-Diamond rating.

The Motel received the motoring federation's rating in the Spring 1978 AAA (Area Covered) TourBook — one of a series of travel information guides published for AAA's nearly 20 million members.

According to AAA, a Four-Diamond rating is awarded only to those exceptional properties which "significantly exceed AAA requirements in most physical and operational categories."

Under AAA's rating system, accommodations undergo rigorous inspections by AAA field representatives, and if they qualify for recommendation, are assigned an overall rating of one to five diamonds.

Ratings appear next to establishments listings in AAA TourBooks to help members recognize at a glance the motoring organization's assessment of the quality of the property. Higher ratings are an indication of the degree to which basic standards are exceeded.

And since only a fifth of all properties in the country meet AAA's requirements for recommendation, even one diamond signifies a quality establishment.

Ruthers Heading Into Home Stretch

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team improved its Greater-Lawrence League record to 9-6 and its overall ledger to 10-9-1 with a 5-4 triumph over Prospect Hill last week.

A scheduled game against Tower Hill Monday night was postponed because of wet grounds, but the locals were listed to return to action Tuesday evening against Prospect Hill and again last night against first-place North Andover.

The Tower Hill game will be made up this weekend, and then Andover heads down the homestretch of the regular campaign next week with contests against South Lawrence East, South Lawrence West and North Lawrence on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday respectively.

Andover, 5-4

Andover stretched its winning streak through five games and its undefeated skein through six contests (5-0-1), nudging pesky Prospect Hill 5-4 behind the four-hit pitching of undefeated Fred Foote.

Foote, in hiking his league record to 3-0 and overall ledger to 4-0, walked only three and struck out four.

He experienced two bad innings, the third and sixth, but set PH down 1-2-3 in the other five frames under the lights at Mark Devlin Field.

Andover, meanwhile, touched Prospect Hill pitchers Elbie Alba and Mike Geisler for eight hits, including a long double by Wayne Merola and a long triple by Rich Grimm.

Grimm also produced one of the most spectacular catches in years for Andover teams, sliding headlong in leftfield to rob Kevin Lacroix of an extra-base hit and save at least one and perhaps two runs from scoring.

Locals loaded the bases quickly in the first on a walk to Merola, a sharp single to rightfield by Jake Powell, and a perfect bunt single by Bob Heidt.

Alba worked out of the big jam, however, as two Andover runners were thrown out at the plate and Jon Pelletier grounded sharply to shortstop.

The victors grabbed a 1-0 edge in the third when Merola cracked a leadoff double, one-hop off the leftfield fence. He stole third, then beat the throw home on Heidt's fielder's choice grounder to first baseman Mike Ferris.

PH battled back ahead 2-1 in the home half of the third, taking advantage of two Andover errors and singles by Paul Bell and Steve Zahn to notch a pair of unearned runs.

This is where Grimm saved the day with his great grab along the leftfield chalk stripe.

Andover grabbed the lead for good with a brace of runs in the fourth. Steve Rathbun reached first on an infield error to start the stanza. Grimm followed with a gigantic RBI triple to centerfield, and Ed Powers bounced a single up-the-middle to rescue Grimm with the lead tally.

Ted Kelley bunted Powers to second, Wayne Merola walked, and both moved upon a wild pitch. Again Alba squirmed free of further trouble, however, retiring the side on a grounder to short and an infield pop.

The local collected two valuable runs after two were out in the fifth. Rathbun singled, Grimm walked, and both moved into scoring position with stolen bases. A throwing error allowed both to race home.

Prospect Hill came back with two in the bottom of the sixth when Bell walked, Steve Zahn singled, and Kevin Zahn lashed a two-run single to leftfield.

PH, which had come from behind to win three of its previous four starts in the final inning, was moved down 1-2-3 by Foote in the seventh.

Ed Powers went 2-for-2 and Steve Rathbun 2-for-4 to pace the Andover attack. Merola, Grimm, Powell and Heidt added solo safeties, while Rathbun and Grimm scored two runs apiece.

Merola's stolen base was his 21st in 15 league games.

In addition to Grimm, defensive standouts for Andover included Jake Powell at second base and Ed Powers with three catches in rightfield during the early portions of the game.

tively, helped the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League team to the District I title last weekend.

The G-L Stars chalked up consecutive victories over Arlington, 3-0, Lowell, 16-2, and Melrose, 8-0, to advance to the State Tournament which begins August 2 in South Weymouth.

Emmert stroked five hits and collected four RBI in the three games, while Demers chipped in three safeties for the District champs.

Demers was also a part of three doubleplays and Emmert was strong behind the plate in all three contests.

Andover's Matt Wells is also a member of the squad, but he has been unable to play as yet because of a broken finger suffered during the team's trip to Montreal earlier this month.

Practical Advice For Arthritics

Gail Moore of Kingston Street, North Andover, told a therapist seminar at New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, that there is much practical advice for the large segment of the population which suffers from arthritis — one warning — avoid opening jars.

Ms. Bortner, one of 25 skilled occupational therapists at the Rehab Hospital, cautioned that arthritics should always use a jar opener otherwise they risk injuring their hands.

"Carts on wheels should be used to transport articles when cooking or doing laundry," was another bit of advice.

"Arthritis is our most widespread chronic disease, and comes in two major forms — osteoarthritis, which develops with aging, and rheumatoid, which strikes younger people — and afflicts twenty million Americans, one in every eleven," she said.

The causes remain unknown; worse, there is no cure. Many victims benefit from treatment that may include exercise, heat, rest, therapy and mechanical aids.

The Rehab Hospital, recognized for its progressive and comprehensive rehabilitation services for victims of strokes, amputees, spinal cord injuries, and other critical disorders, has some practical advice for arthritics including avoiding stress and fatigue.

It's an old cliché, but very true for arthritics. "Never stand when you can sit, and alternate your positions. Don't do all the heavy work at one time."

Therapists also have many devices that decrease stress on arthritic joints.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Complete Radiator Shop At Leo J. Couture & Sons

Summer weather often brings out the worst in your car radiator. If you have radiator problems, take them to Leo J. Couture & Sons, 54 Medford Street (behind Essex Plaza) in Lawrence. One year ago, Coutures opened a complete radiator shop, and already they are servicing the auto radiator needs of hundreds of Greater Lawrence residents at their Medford St. shop.

At Leo J. Couture & Sons, you are getting the benefit of professionals in the business. They have full school certification to do complete auto and truck radiator repair work. They have the equipment and the know-how to solve your radiator problems. Often, they can supply you with a second hand radiator from their huge auto parts inventory. They can rebuilt or repair yours for you. Or they can sell you a new radiator. One way or another, your radiator problems will END at Coutures.

This is the same Leo J. Couture & Sons that offers the highest prices for wrecked cars and sells used auto parts for any make care, foreign and domestic. And they offer 24-hour towing service.

If you have an old car or late model wreck that you want to dispose of, call Couture & Sons. They will come to your home, tow it away and give you cash on the spot for it. They will pay you what the car is worth to them in usable parts, anywhere from $10 to $1,000. Mr. Couture has been in the business for over 15 years, and although your vehicle may seem useless to you, he knows the value of parts and can offer you a fair price.

For complete auto radiator service, for junk car removal, for used auto parts, call Leo J. Couture & Sons at 686-5884. For auto body work, call Couture Auto Body at 688-7989.

ZONING AND THE LAND OWNER

A good community has zoning laws to protect its homeowners. However, zoning is even more important to the buyers of land who are planning to erect their own home. Some communities may have zoning that will make it impossible for you to build the home you plan.

For instance, one community may require a specific amount of acreage for a one-family zone. If you buy a smaller lot than the zoning ordinance requires, you may not be able to build the house you want on the lot you own.

Also, look into the type of home which is allowable in your zoning area. You may plan to build a second floor apartment, possibly for another member of your family or even for rental purposes. If the property is a one-family residential zone, you may be out of luck. No need to worry as long as you check out the zoning before you buy.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

"Nothing is more common than a fool with a strong memory."

Sales Up, Merchants Report

Retail business in the area continues to rise, according to a survey of major Andover stores by the Chamber of Commerce.

Merchants contacted by the Chamber indicate that sales are up from five to 30 percent over last year at this same time.

Louis C. Pfeifle, chairman of the Center Merchants, says that no other New England city of comparable size can boast a larger capital investment than Andover. The stores also offer a wide variety of merchandise and personal service, he says, to make it "like a family affair."

The Merchants are sponsoring a town-wide summer clearance sale next Friday, July 28.

Following "Dollar Day," fall fashions will be placed on the market.

Inspector

quire department heads to reside within Andover boundaries, the policy of the selectmen does strongly encourage it.

Mein's appointment headed a list of staff appointments confirmed by the Selectmen Monday, including the promotion of three firefighters to lieutenants, and the promotion of Barbara Pettus to assistant director of Memorial Hall Library.

Charles H. Murnane, Jr., William C. Moore and Arthur W. Poulin were the three firefighters chosen from a list who were qualified by Civil Service for the position.

They were recommended by Fire Chief William Downs and the deputy chiefs.

Mrs. Pettus, who has been head of reference at the library, succeeds Mrs. Constance Smyth, who retires July 25.

The Selectmen also confirmed the town manager's appointments of Stephen Ayers as library page; James B. Thompson as a summer employee in the Sewer Department; Richard D. St. Louis as a permanent library custodian and Keith A. Williams as a junior engineering aide for the summer; and the following summer appointments for Recreation/Community schools: Andrea Paradis, water safety instructor aide; Douglas E. Mesler and Mark Bedell, lifeguards; Pam Bartow, lifeguard/water safety instructor; Janice L. Walsh, Suzanne M. Petrella, Mary Lu Petrella, Michael A. Lunder, Mike R. Franz, Regina Fernandes and Susan B. Earnshaw, playground aides; Jill Normandy, Martha Moynihan, Janice Moody, Kathy McVey and Christopher Lynch, playground leaders; Maggi M. Meyers, tennis monitor; Marileine Carriere, pre-school leader; John W. Kilgro, Jr., weight room supervisor; and Diana M. Todd and Karen Falkenham, gymnastic aides.

Town Topics

On the agenda will be review of the pre-kindergarten testing program, discussion of a legal counsel to handle school committee negotiations, review of the external testing policy, and recommended salaries for the central office staff.

Shawsheen

hindrance to their work, they could continue flushing.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark, said he did appreciate the problems the Shawsheen residents have and that he was proposing some offsetting compensation — or a credit of $40 on the water bills of 100 homes that are most seriously affected.

"I don't say $40 covers all things in every individual case," he said, "but it represents more than the water which has gone through their meters for the flushing process."

He said he felt the cleaning program is working, and that it is incumbent upon the town to flush the mains thoroughly and make sure they've done everything they can to resolve the problem before undertaking a major capital program.

He said, however, that if the problem doesn't clear up, he would be working toward town meeting and that he would be prepared to spend "the whole $1 million" McQuade estimates would be necessary for complete replacement of mains in the area.

October Town Meeting last year approved money for new mains on William and Kennilworth Avenues and Riverina Road, where the problem was even worse. The voters eliminated the larger project, however.

Freedom Walk

Walking tours of the Freedom Trail, sponsored by the Cobblestone Historical Assn., Washington and Milk Streets, Boston, are conducted by costumed historical characters such as John Hancock and Sam Adams. Tours meet at Boston Common information Booth Monday through Saturday, 9:30, 10, 10:30 and 11:30.
